because he thought it would be easier on the stage.

Crable wrote a comedy skit, a base-ball story, and has secured Joe Glenson and Hugh Bradley to assist him in putting it over. The boys have started out from New York on the Keith circuit. Crable has many friends here, who hope he will be as successful on the stage as he was on the mound.

FUT STOP TO HIGH COST OF WORLD'S SERIES TICKETS

NEW YORK, October 14.—Exorbitant prices for admission to future world's series games will not be tolerated, declares President B B. Johnson, of the American League. "The world's series as conducted at present," said Mr. Johnson before leaving yesterday for Chicago, "threatens to jeopardize the fair name of the game in public opinion. We can never stand for that. Easeball is clean, it must be kept clean. Year by year prices have advanced until now the world's series has assumed a mercenary character which was never intended, and should never be tolerated. There is some house-cleaning to be done, and it's going to start where the dust of discontent has gathered.

The tantalizing spin to the right, he chalmed in the calaimed series of yours are peaches."
"Yes, came back the pouting relative by she was heard peaches."
That the Chinese pheasant supply of Washington State will increase rapidly during the coming few years, due to the operation of the State game farm at Walla Walla, is the opinion of the State ga with my coll of the American League, and I think they fully appreciate my point."

Woodberry is a foeman worthy of the local school's steel, though, and played a strong game. They fumbled could have opened his style of attack to advantage, but as a rule the elevens threatened to turn the tide their way feated by a 42-to-0 score this after

The local trapshooting season is drawing to a close now, and there will be but two more shoots before the final curtain is rung down. However, the sportsmen will be able to go into the field immediately then; and then watch the results of this summer's practice at the clay birds. Give any of that crowd, who thinks nothing of making forty-five and better out of fifty each Saturday, an automatic and let a large covey rise before them; the slaughter would be ter-ri-bule.

Country Club of Virginia golfers played off the qualifying round for the fall tournament over the club links yesterday, and some interesting scores resulted. The pairings for the three sixteens were amounced last night, and the tourney play no doubt will be followed closely by most of the local golfers. Members of the Fairmount Athletic Association will meet in the Church Civic Association childhouse this afternoon to elect efficers and managers for the various teams. Soccer will be undertaken this season, and, from present prospects, the sport will attract many local athletes.

Dunn Hearn and P. F. O'Connor, former players in the Pittsburgh Federal League baseball club, have filed a petition in the receiver's proceedings commenced by the Exposition Park Association, which operated the club. They have a claim, they say, against the club for salaries due them on their contracts, and they demand proof of all statements made in the receivership petition. Among the allegations they make out is one which says no serious attempt has ever been made to collect from the National and American Leagues the sum of $50,000, which they say, was the amount the Pittsburgh Federals were to receive for entering into the agreement which brought peace to professional baseball.

Among the compettors who frequently journey over the links of a club not far from this city is a certain golfer who is as gallant as he is enthusiastic in the game. The other day he was playing with a fair opponent, when she was continually sending her drives off to the right. The ball each time had a nice long carry, but invariably ended in rough, off the course. The golfer saw that his gentle adversary was losing her temper, and thought to cheer her up a bit. When she sent off another high drive with that tantalizing spin to the right, he exclaimed.

The tentative date is Saturday, May 5. Last autumn Columbia defeated Yale on New Haven harbor over a mile and a half course, with excellent weather conditions, which are most unusual for the harbor but the course chosen on the Housatonic affords perfect water on almost all occasions.

Women are invading every field, including the sport world, and making good, too. For the first time in history a woman is coaching a college football team. She is Mrs. Earl Brannon, formerly prominent in athletes at the University of Nebraska. When the Loneshore College, of Arkansas, advertised for a football coach for its second team, Mrs. Brannon applied and was accepted. Her husband is drilling the first team. According to reports. Mrs. Brannon is a success, and the a good showing on the Arkansas griding this season.

Amusing stories are told of the consoling remarks that caddles often make to those who are learning the game, even after any number of blunders. Who has not heard them remark: "Just take it easy, sir; take it casy and you'll be on the green;" or "If it had not taken that bad kick, sir, your ball would have been on the green?" (This probably after a bad silce.)

Melzar M. Whittlesey, of Pittsfield, Mass., No. 3 on the Yale varsity crew, and one of the nucleus around which Coach Guy Nickalls hoped to build up a championship eight, was lost to the crew for all time recently by a decision of his physicians that he cannot participate in athletics of any kind because of heart trouble.

Ever since Jess Willard put a quietus on Frank Moran, the question:
"When will Willard fight again in defense of his title?" has repeatedly been asked. As yet no definite answer has been forthcoming, either from the will lard quarters direct or through an indirect source. We shall endeavor to make answer.

Willard will not fight again.

In an effort to foster the players who rarely have an opportunity to compete, the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players has launched a novice championship tournament. The plans of the competition, which will be held simultaneously in nine of the more important billiard rooms of New York, were perfected at a meeting at the Leiderkranz. More than 100 players will begin the matches of 100 points in the preliminary round, beginning October 15. Only amateurs who have never made an average of better than 3 at balkline will be eligible to compete. The winner and runner-up of each room tournament will meet in a final round robin for the championship trophy to be offered by the national association.

Why not something of the kind here in Richmond? Get together, you hillard players. Call on us, if we can

The annual cross-country championship this year will be decided over the New Haven course on Saturday, November 25, prior to the Yaie-Harvard football game, and a special meeting of the association will convene at New Haven, Friday, November 24. Proposed amendment to the by-laws will be considered at this session, and a change may be made in the program of the annual indoor meet, which is scheduled for March 3, 1915.

Just where these indoor contests will be held next year is a matter to be decided at the New Haven meeting, and the substitution of a graduates' race, instead of a twenty-four-lap relay event, will be discussed.

Vito Cestone, of New Rochelle, N. Rube Marquard, the southpaw, of the Robins, was well paid for holding the Phillies to three hits and runs and conquering Alexander the Great at Ehbets Field during the final games of the National League race. Perry Weise, who followed the team around on its last western trip, met Marquard at Ebbets Field the next day and presented the rube $200 of the money he won.

The new record for the Siwanoy Club course, Mt. Vernon, N. Y. made recently by Michael J. Brady, Massachusetts open champion, lasted just overnight. James M. Barnes, Philadelphia, the next day reeled an individual card of sixty-nine in the combined four-ball foursome event between professional and amateurs, preliminary to the first championship of the Professional Golfers' Association of America. Brady's mark was seventy-two, so "Long Jim," at three strokes less, put a real crimp in the Bay Stater's showing.

The pennant victory of the Red Sox probably saved Joe Lannin and Bill Carrigan for baseball. Joe announced he'd sell his club and quit the sport if the Sox didn't win the pennant. But they won—and Joe is going to linger in the hope of getting more spoils from post season games in the years to come.

Carrigan declared some time ago that he was going to retire from the game after the 1916 season was over. It made no conditions. Just the same, it is felt that the triumph of the Sox will make it possible for the Sox owners to influence him to remain at the Boston helm for another season or two.

However, his father-in-law, J. A. Depew, of Delane, Pa., was on hand to look after the family's shooting interest.

Sam Hildreth, trainer for August Belmont, has secured Jockey Jimmy Butwell's signature to a contract to ride for Mr. Belmont next season. It is said Butwell is to receive $5.000 as a retaining fee, with an additional sum for each mount.

A new swimming marvel has been uncovered in Honolulu. His name is John Kelii. He is just a mere kid yet. He covered the 100 yards in $5.3-5 seconds, the furlong in 2:294-5 (which is 4-5 of a second behind the vrorld record), and the 440 yards in a trifle over 5 minutes and 30 seconds.

Kelii has been swimming in competition only a few months. His showing in the Honolulu meet has caused experts to predict that in another year or two he will be peer of all the "human fish" in the world.

Robert Theobald, Yale student, has sued a railroad company for $20,000, charging that injuries sustained in an accident killed his chances of playing on the Yale eleven last fall. Seems to us that Theobald ought to pay the railroad $20,000 for saving him from landing a place on that Yale eleven. If he had, the injuries sustained when the Harvard steam roller hit him might have been a bit more serious than a locomotive engine could inflict.
